Just back from a terrific two weeks in Europe. Started with seeing friends in Vevey, Switzerland and discovered some new places to visit. Stayed at their apartment overlooking Lake Geneva with the mountains in the distance. It was breathtakingly beautiful.

Explored the nearby cities like Lausanne where we saw this outstanding museum that had an exhibition of early 20th Century Russian Impressionist paintings. We went to a Swiss spa that had a triple-size swimming pool and whirlpools. Enjoyed a delicious lunch buffet overlooking the garden. It was all very relaxing.

Then I took the train to Milan and visited with friends at their beautiful farmhouse set in the vineyards one hour west of Milan. The vineyards were in hilly terrain that was beautiful for taking long walks. Of course, you work up an appetite and eat delicious Italian cuisine.

For a change of pace, left my friends in the 200 year old farmhouse and flew to Paris for a stimulating few days.

I discovered some new places in Paris that I had not seen. One of my favorites was the Doll Museum from the 17th Century to modern American Barbie dolls. I also visited the Jardin des Plantes with enormous acres of gardens and inside there is a terrific zoo. Really loved this discovery.

And last, but not least, I had a few wonderful days in Provence at my favorite Hotel des Servanes, an ancient olive farm. The hotel is a 350 year old farmhouse with 18 bedrooms and the guests were from all over Europe. I was the only American. It was hot enough for me to swim in an unheated pool and love every minute of it.

I will plan another meeting soon so we can discuss upcoming travel trips or travel consultations.
